FACULTY CURRICULUM COMMITTEE COMPLETES NEW SCHEDULE AND NUMBER SYSTEM FOR COURSES

Percentage of Conflicts Has Been Greatly Reduced in all Studies.

ALL CLASSES HELD BETWEEN 8 AND 3:30

Afternoon Classes Will Be As Important As Morning.

A committee consisting of Professor L. R. Perkins, Professor R. H. White, Miss J. H. Bristol, Professor J. P. Davison and Professor R. Sholes has completed changes in the schedule of courses for the year 1928-1929. The Committee has done a great deal of work in rearranging the hours and renumbering the courses.

In the past, students desiring to take certain important courses in the same year have been unable to do so because of conflicts in hours. Due to this there has been no particular years for a student to take his courses. It has been the aim of the committee to divide the courses into four main groups so that both the student and faculty shall know in what year of college matriculation each course should ordinarily be taken. This division of courses will lessen the student's conflicts and permit him to get necessary courses in the right succession.

Athletics have conflicted greatly with classes in former years. Under the new plan an arrangement with the department of Physical Education has been made whereby men participating in athletics will not have to be called from their afternoon classes to attend practise. The committee has agreed to stop all classes at half past three, thus limiting classes to the hours between 8 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. With such an arrangement, the afternoon classes will hold just as much importance as the morning ones do. All practise will be held after this. In order to give the football squad the same length of practise hours as in previous years, the Physical Education department has agreed to erect search lights on the athletic field which will enable teams to practise later in the fall afternoons when it becomes dark before five o'clock.

Another important feature of the committee's work is the new system of numbers used to define the courses. The year in which a course would be elected most effectively by the average student is clearly indicated by the number used to define the course: numbers from 11 to 19 inclusive indicate freshman courses; numbers from 21 to 29, sophomore courses; from 31 to 39, junior courses and from 41 to 49, senior courses. The figure 1 following the decimal point in the number of a course (e. g. 21.1) shows that it is a first semester course; figure 2 (e. g. 21.2) that it is a second semester course; the number alone without the decimal point and figure following (e. g. 21) indicates that it is a years course. On the schedule, prerequisites and laboratory fees are indicated in parenthesis.

Blue Baboon To Issue Commencement Number

The Blue Baboon board is hard at work in preparation for their Commencement number. They plan this to be the best issue of the year and expect it to be published soon after examinations begin.

A box has been placed in the book store for contributions from the students. The board urges that the student body cooperate as much as possible in securing jokes and articles, because without such support, the Blue Baboon will be starved out.

Frosh Discard "Pea Greens" After a 6-6 Tie With Sophs

In as tense and thrilling a game as Porter Field has seen in many a day, the freshmen and sophomores played nine hectic innings to a tie at 6 all yesterday, to keep the underclass competition still even with two victories apiece. The frosh had a hard uphill pull to tie their opponents, as at one time the score stood 5 to 2 against them. With a little more ability to hit in the pinches, however, the men of '31 might have won when they had two on and none out in the ninth. Maynard and Paul, pitching for the rival teams, performed very creditably, each giving but six hits and as many runs in the game.

The Student Council voted last night that the Frosh discard their "Pea Greens" for the remainder of the year, because of their good showing against the Sophs yesterday, and because it is so late in the year to play off the tie. The rest of the Freshman rules, however, will be in force until examination week.

CHARLES F. MALAM GIVEN FELLOWSHIP OF YEAR AT OXFORD

The First of Its Kind From President's Private Purse.

Charles F. Malam '28 is the first recipient of a fellowship affording an opportunity to do a year of graduate work at Oxordf University. The fellowship, which is the first of its kind ever given at Middlebury, is made possible through the President's Private Purse, a fund given by Charles M. Swift of Ferrisburg, a trustee of the college. The income of this fund is used at the discretion of the President.

Malam is the first undergraduate of Middlebury to bring out a book. A collection of poems, "Spring Plowing," is the book which won for him this unique distinction and gained much favorable comment from reviewers and critics.

During his college career Malam has been editor of the Saxonian, on the staff of the Blue Baboon and the CAMPUS, and editor-in-chief of the 1928 Kaleidoscope. He is a member of the Waubanakee honorary society and was the Middlebury nominee for the Rhodes Scholarship last year. He is the only man in his class to be elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Malam is a member of Phi Pi Epsilon journalistic fraternity, and of Delta Upsilon.

Debating Course To Be Given Next Semester

A separate course in debating will be given next semester for those not interested in general public speaking. The course in public speaking will be given as usual but debating will not be included. More emphasis will be placed on the different forms of speaking, dramatic reading, voice training, etc. The debating course will be a seminar under Mr. Pattee. The debating teams will be chosen from students registered in this course. Hours will be announced later.

Harvard Bats Four Hurlers Hard—Panther Unable To Hit Whitmore.

PLAY SPRINGFIELD M. A. C. THIS WEEK

Tufts Wins 5 to 1; Blue Hits Beat Clark 9 to 4.

Harvard bumped Middlebury all over Soldiers' Field, Cambridge, last Tuesday and won the first game of the Southern New England trip 18 to 0. Four Panther hurlers were hit hard while Whitmore was holding the Blue to four hits and no runs. Captain Whittemore started, but was knocked for eight runs in two innings. Hingston then took up the burden and held the Cantabs to two runs in five innings. Gollnick batted for Hingston in the eighth and Simmons and Bossert pitched the last of that inning and were touched for eight tallies.

The Crimson team started in fast and a base on balls, single and home run scored three runs in the first inning. Three singles, a double and another homer netted five runs in the second and drove Whittemore to the showers. Hingston was not so easy for the Harvard boys and they only got two runs during his stay on the rubber. A base on balls coupled with three fielders' choices scored a run in the fourth while another free ticket was turned into a run in the fifth by a fielder's choice and a single. When Hingston was removed for a pinch hitter, the Cantabs found it easier. Batting more than around, the Harvard team made four singles, a double, a triple and two home runs which combined with an error by Bossert gave them eight runs.

Middlebury tried desperately to push over a run in the ninth inning and managed to fill the bases on a single by Anderson, an error by Durke, and a base on balls, but Jacobs flied out to Prior to end the rally.

ANOTHER QUESTIONNAIRE.

The Ask Me Another craze seems to have died a natural death along with Mah Jong and last year's slang, and it is with no desire to bring back to life any of these fads that the Campus is sponsoring another questionnaire.

The purpose of the questionnaire is two-fold; to obtain composite views on various subjects from those whose experience makes their views worth the consideration of other undergraduates and to arouse interest and encourage thought on various factors of college life among the whole undergraduate body.

The achievement of the first object will be useful in several ways: The Campus, which in its editorial columns is supposed to reflect the opinions of the students will have definite material upon which to base its arguments. To be sure the questionnaire is being given only to seniors and they compose only a small proportion of the entire student body, but their opinions are the results of experience rather than of empty theorizing. Last year's questionnaire proved that as far as really valuable results were concerned, the questionnaire could as well be confined to the senior class as given to the whole college.

Another use to which the results of the questionnaire will undoubtedly be put is in the guiding of the student curriculum committee in its work. In this particular it might be wise to obtain results from the whole student body, but even here, we believe that the seniors will be able to tell more accurately what has been of value to them looking backward over four years than they would have been able to at the time of exposure.

In connection with the second purpose of the questionnaire we believe that one reason for a condition of mental stagnation among undergraduates is caused by ignorance of the existence of anything to think about. The questions themselves will, it is hoped, be an incentive for informal debate. The results of the questionnaire should clear up many misapprehensions concerning college life, at least, insofar as Middlebury is representative of colleges in general.

LEARNING TO STUDY.

Many centuries ago one man could learn in a normal lifetime all there was to be known in the various fields of knowledge; then it took two men to do the job, and now, evidently, many more than we will have a chance to interview. The thing to be noticed is, that while the various fields of knowledge have been advancing, and while science has been bringing modern methods to a high degree of efficiency, the art of learning has received very little attention.

The student is given a book and is told that he will be held responsible for certain facts. The grammar school student learns these facts by various means, most of them roundabout and tedious. When he arrives at college longer lessons are assigned and for the first week or two the freshman finds himself overwhelmed with work. He finally devises more efficient means of studying and wonders why someone didn't tell about them while he was in high school.

We do not believe that these latter methods are by any means the best possible and are sure that we are still wasting an enormous amount of time in inefficient studying.

With the increased amount of facts to be learned, wouldn't it save time in the end if we were to stop somewhere in the learning process and spend a year learning how to learn.

VIEWPOINTS

PERILS OF CO-EDUCATION.

A football coach attributed a spotty season to the distracting presence of co-eds in the university. Another found a reason for successful seasons in the fact that his was a boy's school. The idea does not square with romance if it does with fact. It has been claimed that men were more verile under the eyes of women.

Sometimes, and perhaps soon, we think the whole question of co-education ought to be investigated. The system has been in practice long enough for its results to have scientific value.

Our own impression is that co-education is a very mixed blessing. As someone once put it, "It's swell for the girls and hell for the boys."

The average girl matures two or three years earlier than the average boy. By the time she gets to college she is an adult physically, mentally and socially. Her chief concern is in finding a husband, and co-educational college offers her four years of daily contact with a select type of male. It is a made-to-her-order bargain counter in husbands, and the number of college romances attest to the fact that the co-ed is aware of her opportunity and takes full advantage of it.

The average boy, on the other hand, reaches college still in the horse-play stage of adolescense. He still needs to ease his growing pains with rough sports, and his interests are still the learning, and making, and collecting interests of the boy. The girl is a woman when she reaches college, the boy is not a man until he leaves college. The contacts of co-education, which are natural to the girl, are unnatural to the boy. He is distracted. The girl is being fitted for life; the boy is wasting the time he should be using in becoming fitted for life.

So we suggest co-education—if any—for women. For men, four years among men. Which presents rather a problem in arithmetic, if you care to take it as seriously as that.—Chicago Tribune.

Curriculum Committee Completes New Schedule

The reduction of conflicts is estimated to range from 15% to 40%. In freshman courses, the conflicts have practically all been eliminated with the exception of those caused by some double courses necessary when beginning a modern language. In the upper classes, such a great reduction is not possible because there are not so many divisions of the same course, and also because present students may have taken courses that are out of place in the new schedule. All conflicts are not equally serious and the main effort of the committee has been to eliminate as many of the important ones as possible.

The committee expects some trouble for two years to come until the sustem gets in working order. Such trouble is inevitable wherever a new system is adopted. Until the present freshmen and sophomores have chosen their courses according to the new plan, and until the next two classes have entered upon it, there will be conflicts which will necessitate minor changes.

COMMUNICATION

May 22, 1928.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAMPUS:

Boys will be boys and a joke is a joke. But when boys become college men childish things might better be put away.

A few members of the Women's College spent the bigger part of Friday afternoon and evening in the Home Economics laboratory making candy and brownies to be sold at the Y. W. C. A. bridge Saturday. Between Friday evening and Saturday morning some practical joker entered the laboratory and removed all the candy and brownies with the exception of one pan of fudge. The fudge may have been left as a reminder of a pleasant time spent in making the stuff, or it may have been left to be sold at a price sufficiently large to cover the cost of supplies and so forth.

Of course Y. W. is out of luck. The material for the brownies has to be paid for and the profit which would have resulted from selling them at the bridge is also gone. Incidentally several hours' work is wasted which might have been used to better advantage than making brownies and fudge to feed the other side of the hill.

As was mentioned before a joke is a joke—but just exactly what is a joke?

LADY ANN.

VERMONT TRIMS BLUE IN TENNIS MATCHES

Middlebury Loses By 4 to 2 For First Time in History.

The college tennis team lost the first match in court history to U. V. M. at Burlington Wednesday, May 16, by a score of 4 to 2. Hindes and Henderson lost their matches to Vermont men for the first time since playing on the varsity. The Vermont team now leads in the race for the State championship, having defeated Norwich, St. Michael's and Middlebury. Woodbury, playing No. 4 singles, won the only singles match for the Blue against Vermont.

Summaries:

Baldwin (V) defeated Hindes (M) 8-6, 7-5, Graves (V) defeated Henderson (M) 7-5, 6-3, Shedd (V) defeated Young (M) 7-9, 6-3, 8-6, Woodbury (M) defeated Taylor (V) 8-6, 9-7, Hindes and Henderson (M) defeated Baldwin and Graves (V) 6-3, 6-2, Shedd and Borkland (V) defeated Smith and Young (M) 6-4, 6-1.

Capt. Hindes is playing at the New England Intercollegiates now being held at Boston. He is entered in the singles, and will play in the doubles with Capt. Martin of Boston University. Friday the team meets a hard opponent in Tufts, whose men have gone very well this year. The following day, W. P. I. will be met at Worcester. The Blue players were able to beat the engineers on May 4, but will have a hard contest this time. Tuesday, the Panther will meet Vermont.

Y. W. C. A. WILL SELL SECOND HAND BOOKS

The Y. W. C. A. has formulated a plan whereby college students may sell their old text books and buy others second hand. All books which any undergraduates possess and which will be used in courses next year may be presented to the association for sale now. A slip of paper containing the owner's name, home and college address, must be pinned securely to the flyleaf of each book. Two thirds of the price paid for the book by the owner must also be indicated.

The books will be stored during the summer, and when sold next fall, the owner will be paid. The association does not guarantee to sell all books turned into them, but will return those not sold to the owner, unless otherwise signified.

A second collection of books will be made next fall, previous to the public book sale which the association will sponsor. Books may be given to the following women: Florence Portman, Music House; Lillian Becker, Hillcrest; Henrietta Olsen, Battell; Elizabeth Massey, Weybridge; Harriet Dorman and Mary Evans, Pearsons; Ruth Atwood, Hillside; Mary Henseler and Jane Dickerman, Chateau; Dorothy Pierson, Wilcox; Betty Oetjen, Homestead.

BLUE AND GREEN EVENLY FAVORED FOR STATE TITLE

Catamount Excells in Two Mile, Hammer Throw, and Broad Jump.

PANTHER IS STRONG IN TRACK EVENTS

Guarnaccia, Smith and Bagley Show Most Power.

The Triangle meet next Saturday on Porter Field will be a hard contest between Middlebury and Vermont with only slight competition expected from Norwich. Both the Blue and the Green have won all their meets so far this season, while the Cadets have been showing up very poorly.

In the first meet of the year, the Panther decisively won over the St. Lawrence aggregation by piling up 87½ points to their 47½. Vermont was able to take them in by only a 74 to 51 count. The Blue decisively took Rensselaer in to camp in the second meet, by an 81 to 54 score, which was the engineer's only defeat in two years, R. P. I winning every event but the hammer throw, last Saturday trounced Norwich when they piled up a total of 109 points to the visitors 26. Comparative scores make things look rosy for Coach Brown's tracksters.

The Blue has shown, in both meets a decided strength in the track events and a slightly lower degree of superiority in the field events. The Green boys have shown up best in the latter, and will prove a big factor in the field.

The Cadets have shown sporadic strength in both but do not excell in either department.

The hurdles will probably be the closest event in the meet. Robbins, Vermont and Yarrington, Norwich have both been clearing the high obstacles in less than 17 seconds and the 220 yard hurdles in about 27. Under similar conditions Sherman, Middlebury, has been making about the same time. Gill Smith, Middlebury should have an easy time romping over the 100 and 220 yards for two easy firsts. Wood, Vermont, will probably find the two mile run a gift while Davis and Rowe, also Vermont, are fighting out second and third places with Dalton and Butler, Middlebury.

With Goltry on his feet again the prospects of a first in the 440 brighten considerably for the Blue. Thayer and Donald, Middlebury, will get practically no opposition from the Cadets in the 880 but the Catamounts are expected to give them a stiff run.

The field events are tinted with green with the cadets showing comparatively strong in the javelin throw, pole vault and broad jump. Guarnaccia has been doing decidedly well all season in the shotput with Kropper, Vermont, close behind. Guarnaccia's 38 foot 2 inch toss in the St. Lawrence meet is greater by 12 inches than any other record of the triangle this season. Phinley, Norwich, an especially strong man in the javelin, will give Schmidt stiff competition in that event and is the favorite. Vermont appears to be comparatively weak. The Catamounts have two strong polevaulters in Franchesci and Willard. Williams however has done better than either in competition this year. Bagley is the favorite in the high jump, while Vermont is especially strong in this direction. Guarnaccia, Middlebury, has done surprising things this season with the discus. Wood, Park and Kropper of Vermont are also expected to come away with a great deal of the glory in this event.

Both the Catamounts and the Cadets have been consistently doing over 20 feet and the Blue's best man has yet to reach that mark. The Hammer throw is another probable Catamount victory. Mackay, Vermont, heaved the ball 120 feet 11 inches against St. Lawrence and 143 feet against Montreal. Fisher, Norwich, and Schmidt, Middlebury, appear about tied for second.

U. of Maine Retains Track Championship

The University of Maine retained its title as New England intercollegiate track champion by rolling up a score of 31 3-4 at the meet held in Cambridge last Saturday. Holy Cross came in second and Bates third with scores of 26 and 18 respectively.

Captain Arnold '28, Donald '28, Gilbert Smith '29, Bagley '30, Guarnaccia '30, and Gerald Thayer '31 represented Middlebury. Smith placed in both the 100 and and 220 yard dash semi-finals but was unable to score in the finals. None of the other Middlebury men placed.

The meet was held in a drizzling rain, but in spite of that one new record was hung up. In the final heat of the 120 yard high hurdles J. S. Collier of Brown came through in 15 seconds, a new record for the N. E. I. C. A. A.

MYRTLE BACHELDER AWARDED SWEATER

Myrtle Bachelder '30, Orange, Mass. is the first member of the sophomore class to win a sweater. A total of 1000 points, including either an All-Midd or a championship team is required by the Women's Athletics Association for this award.

Miss Bachelder was secretary of the association last year and has been elected vice-president for the coming year. She has made the All-Middlebury hockey, basketball and volley ball teams. Miss Bachelder has also been prominent in Y. W. C. A.

Awards Made to All-Midd And Championship Teams

MC's and numerals were awarded to the All-Midd volley ball team, and the championship volley ball team at chapel Tuesday by Rose Marchiano '29, newly elected president of the Women's Athletic Association. MC's were awarded to the following: Myrtle Bachelder '30, Harriet Grant '28, Alice Hagen '31, Virginia Knox '30, Helen Legate '31, Sigrid Manty '29, Rose Marchiano '29, Elizabeth Parker '30 and Mildred Ross '29. Numerals were awarded to the following juniors who constittute the championship team: Ruth Moore, Sigrid Manty, Rose Marchiano , Mary Tudhope, Evelyn Jones, Elizabeth Goodrich, Irene Avery, Catherine Hodges, Jean Renton, Eloise Comtois, Emmeline Freeborn and Mildred Ross.

Women Play Off Three Interclass Baseball Games

Rain during the past week has prevented the playing off of the interclass baseball games. Only three contests have been played this week. The freshmen were victors in their two encounters with the juniors, while the sophomores won from the seniors. The scores of the freshman-junior games were 13-8 and 19-10. The sophomores won by the margin of 12-4.

The strict enforcement of the old major and minor rules regarding eligibility for class teams has made a noticeable difference in standings of the various classes. According to the W. A. A. constitution, women are allowed to play on two major and one minor team each year. Baseball being the last sport of the college year, very few are eligible to play. The juniors especially feel the loss of their best players. The policy of mass participation which the association has conscientiously endeavoured to follow makes it possible for every one to have an equal chance to make a class team. Student referees and coaches manage the games.

Poor weather and a wet field have considerably hampered the progress of both hockey and baseball on the women's side of the hill. Six more hockey games still remain to be played off in order to determine the championship, although the All-Midd team was picked last fall. The sophomores and freshmen played the first of the post-season games last Thursday afternoon, victory going to the class of 1930 by the score of 7 to 1. Myrtle Bachelder and Beatrice Coughlin were outstanding for the winning team, while Eleanor Foote, Harriet Eliot and Ruth McNulty did the most consistent playing for the freshmen.

TIE FOR FIRST IN BASEBALL TOURNEY

Dekes and K. D. R.'s Have Won Two Games; Chi Psi in Third Place.

The second week of the intramural baseball tournament was marked by the advance of the K. D. R. team to a tie for first place with D. K. E., by reason of victories over the Sig Eps and Alpha Sigs while the Dekes were the winners in a game with the Neutrals. Chi Psi, with one victory to its credit, holds third place. Under the rules governing the tourney, a team when defeated is automatically eliminated from further competition. To date, six teams have been put out of the race for the cup emblematic of the college championship.

K. D. R. 24; S. P. E. 4

The K. D. R. baseball team decisively defeated the Sig Eps at the Athletic Field in a one sided game Wednesday by the score 24-4. The winners were able to secure thirteen hits in making their huge total of runs, and loose fielding on the part of their opponents aided them considerably. Hoyle, who did the hurling for K. D. R., performed well and allowed but five hits and four runs in the seven innings of play. He was well supported in the field, his team playing errorless ball behind him. In addition to pitching a good game, Hoyle got three runs in as many trips to the plate.

Summary:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H	E
K. D. R.	5	2	0	2	4	3	8	24	13	0
S. P. E.	3	0	0	0	1	0	0	4	5	3

A. S. P. 18; D. S. 1.

Migs Palmer yielded only three hits to the Delta Sigs in a six inning game at the Athletic Field Thursday when the A. S. P. ball team won in a walk by the score 18 to 1. Benson was the only man who could touch the A. S. P. hurler for anything more than infield grounders or weak pop flys to the outfield. The winners collected fourteen bingles off Pratt, including two homers by Johnson and another four bagger by Perry. Palmer helped win his own game with three hits out of four times at bat. The Alpha Sigs showed good form in the field and a strong batting punch.

Summary:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	R	H	E
A. S. P.	7	2	0	1	8	0	18	14	1
D. S.	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	3	4

K. D. R. 4; A. S. P. 1.

Displaying a good brand of fielding and batting, the K. D. R.'s won their second game of the tournament in beating the Alpha Sigs Saturday at the Athletic Field by a score of 4 to 1. The game was closely contested and might have turned out either way but for the fact that the K. D. R.'s were stronger in the pinches. Hoyle pitched another good game and shaded Palmer in a pitching duel although the latter struck out seven men. Hill starred at the bat for the winners, getting three hits out of four times up, one of which was a long triple.

Summary:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H	E
A. S. P.	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	4	4
K. D. R.	1	0	1	0	0	1	1	4	6	1

Batteries: Palmer and Perry, Pratt and Hoyt.

D. K. E. 11; Neutrals 5.

The Dekes tied for first place in the tourney by defeating the strong Neutral team in a postponed game Monday at the Athletic Field by the score 11 to 5. Pete Crawford of the Dekes pitched good ball and struck out 12 men in holding the Neutrals to three hits in seven innings, although his support in the field was ragged at times. The losers showed a lack of team work and had a tendency to blow up in the pinches. Rovengo, who pitched for the Neutrals, did well and allowed the Dekes but five hits during the game, and also fanned out eight men.

Summary:

Tufts 5; Middlebury 1.

Invading Medford for the second game of the trip, the Panther ball tossers dropped another game by a score of 5 to 1 to the strong Tufts team. Cook pitched a strong game and deserved to win, but once again the team failed to hit in the pinches and although making eight hits to Tufts' six, could not push more than one tally across the platter.

The Blue scored first when Franzoni was hit by one of Bowker's shoots, stole second and crossed the plate when Willis doubled. This run came in the second inning and ended hostilities as far as Middlebury was concerned.

A single, base on balls and a double gave the Jumbos two runs in the third inning. A force out, stolen base and a single melded another counter in the fourth. The final two runs trickled over in the eighth inning on a double, an error by Collins, and two sacrifices.

The game was interesting throughout and Middlebury was always threatening, but could not seem to hit when hits meant runs. All season long the hitting in the pinches has been noticeable by its absence and it is just this failure that has spelled defeat in the close games. The score:

Middlebury 9; Clark 4.

In the third game of the trip, played at Worcester, our Blue nine came through and drubbed the Clark University team by the score of 9 to 4. Simmons relieved Hingston in the fourth inning and only allowed 3 hits and 1 run for the rest of the game.

Clark opened the scoring in the very first inning, landing on Hingston for three hits and a base on balls for a total of two runs. Another run was collected in the third inning when Luivisi doubled, scoring Shannahan who had previously walked. Simmons went to the mound in the fourth after the first man had hit safely and been sacrificed to second, and halted the attack so that it was not until the eighth inning that the Clarksters could score again. Here Higginbottom doubled to score Farrell who was perched on second due to a single and a stolen base.

The Panther scored not a run until the fifth inning, but then the storm broke and soon the game had taken on a decided Blue color. Collins singled, stole second and came home on a single by Willis. "Beau" then took his turn at stealing second and after Simmy had fanned, Hasseltine singled to score Willis. Hassy then stole second and scored on a single by Sorenson.

Two more runs came over in the sixth on doubles by Jacobs and Franzoni and a single by Collins. The crowning insult was added in the eighth. March led off with a single and Franzoni tripled to score Johnnie. Collins singled to score Ray and then Willis sent one on a ride for a home run and chased Collins over the platter. After that there wasn't any more. The score:

PRESIDENT RICHMOND SPEAKS AT VESPERS

"Real Satisfaction Found in the Divine Spirit" Subject.

President Richmond of Union College spoke at Vespers Sunday, choosing as his text John 10:10. "I am come that they may have life and have it more abundantly."

He said, "Life remains and has always been the supreme human passion. A man never grows so old that he does not cling to it.

"There are many human beings with dull perceptions who do not think much or feel much; there are others who are simply healthy beings, living comfortably and without conscience. These are life of a kind. Christ came to add to life, to increase it, to show the beauties of the universe, to open the doors of the spiritual kingdom. That is what he has done, for, whenever we see a man touched by His spirit, we see at once a quickening in his being: his life becomes meaningful and more worthwhile. The inventor, explorer, musician and poet have all come that we may have a more abundant life, but none of them can make life come to us. The spirit of man can never be content until he finds the spirit of Christ. Whether he has much or little, the person who has Christ feels the beauty of this world. One cannot expect to gain, but one can expect to fail cheerfully, and there is satisfaction in this feeling.

"President Coolidge said, 'The whole foundation of enlightened civilization rests on religion, and unless our people are educated in it they are not sufficiently provided for the needs of life.' Sometimes one may think religion makes little difference in life, but there is an insatiable craving in all of us which religion alone will satisfy.

"Life is not to be defined in terms of startling sensations and artificial stimulation. The real satisfactions are only to be found in those thoughts, sentiments, aspirations and activities of the divine spirit that are in every man. One who has these satisfactions has found the true life, for the best life is the one which Christ came to give and will give to everyone who is willing to receive it."

Madison, Wis.—(IP)—Olga Rubinow, of Philadelphia is the latest to refuse to join Phi Beta Kappa. In a letter to the secretary of the Wisconsin chapter of the national honor fraternity, she said:

"Because I am opposed to any formal honor bestowed on the basis of high grades, which I don't consider a genuine criterion of true scholarship and intellectual achievement, and which I believe is often conferred upon the unworthy as well as the worthy, constantly excluding a large proportion of those worthy who do not happen to excell in grades—I beg to decline election to the Phi Beta Kappa society."

Washington, D. C.—(IP)—That there are more college students in America than in all other countries combined is the estimate made recently by the Federal Bureau of Education here.

Figures given out by the bureau place the number of students in colleges and universities in the United States at one million, and in the rest of the world 950,000.

The bureau also estimated that there are in American high schools today 4,200,000 students, against 5,700,000 for all the rest of the world.

In schools of all kinds, according to the figures, America has a total of 29,000,000 students, or practically one fourth of the total population of the country.

State College, Pa.--(IP)--A one man track team, made up of Paul Heydrick from Potomac State School, Keyser, West Va., set a record for individual point scoring here recently at a 14 school meet, when he piled up 33 points for himself and his alma mater.

Heydrick took first places in the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, hammer throw, discus and javelin events, and finished second in the shot put.

History a Popular Study Among Rhodes Scholars

An American student who has found the study of history attractive and who feels inclined to "specialize" in it ought not to fail to learn something of how history is and may be studied at Oxford. Such information should go far to confirm his decision about a speciality and to cause him to realize the desirability, either through a Rhodes Scholarship or otherwise, of pursuing this specialty at Oxford. The American student knows, or soon learns, that the normal thing is to aim at the B. A. Degree and that the B. A. Degree is awarded at Oxford in one definite subject, instead of resulting from the completion of a certain number of "courses." The student of history, therefore, in a majority of cases, will seek his B. A. in the Honour School of Modern History; and a graduate of an American university need have no fear that he will duplicate things which he has already "had."

The Rhodes Scholar as a rule may expect to receive Senior Standing. With this standing, he is not obliged to pass any entrance or intermediate examinations. He may thus begin at once his studies for the final examinations, or "schools," working, with the guidance of his tutor, along lines determined by Statute and by Regulations of the Board of the Faculty of Modren History.

The basis of the study is dual. The student must give his primary attention to the History of England and to General History. The difference is that all of the former must be studied whereas, in the case of General History ,special knowledge is demanded of only a relatively short period. This arrangements appears based on the principle that all of a thing should be mastered where circumstances permit, but that, where from the nature of the case this is less possible, mastery of a part is better than superficial knowledge of the whole. In addition to this, the wide choice possible in the matter of a period allows the student to consult his special interest. In the case of the History of England, there is a dual subdivision. The continuous Constitutional History of England to the present day must be studied, careful attention being given to documents and a knowledge of Constitutional Law being also required. The continuous Political History to 1885 must also be studied; and again room is given for the special interest of the student, this time by the requirement that proficiency must be shown in some aspect of Political History such as biography of statesmen, literature or art, religious movements, foreign relations, and the like.

The study of English and General History must be supplemented in the first place by a knowledge of political and descriptive geography and in the second, in the case of this who seek the highest honors, by a careful study, with reference to original authorities, of a Special Subject. The latter requirement is still another case of opportunity for the student to consult his special interest. The American student may well be interested in the American Revolution and the Formation of the Federal Constitution 1760-1788, one of the listed subjects. Others, picked at random are St. Augustine, the Crusades, the Italian Renaissance, British Colonial Policy 1830-1858, Political Economy, and Representative Government.

Finally, in addition to the above mentioned subjects, a study must be made of Political Science and of Economic History with Economic Theory, though those who do not aim at the highest honors may omit one or the other. In the last place, if a student knows well French, German, Italian or Spanish, he may have an opportunity of displaying his proficiency and of receiving credit for it.

The Rhodes Scholar with Senior Standing may well "do schools" at the end of two years. He may then in his third year decide on one of several courses open to him, or which special mention may be made of the B. Litt. Degree. This is a research degree which makes it possible for a Rhodes Scholar to undertake research into some question in which he may have become interested. If he can incorporate the results of his study into a satisfactory thesis, he will receive the Degree. Other Rhodes Scholars will take the full three years for "Schools"; but "schools" will be and ought to be the aim of the great majority. In a few special cases, the D. Phil. Degree offers opportunity for advanced research. It is in general necessary to put all three years in order to obtain the Degree. The applicant is likely to meet with effective discouragement unless he has a definite course of study in mind; and he is in a much better position if he has already begun work on it.

Rhodes Scholarships are, of course, open for any field of study offered at the University of Oxford, and tenable for three years. Men who are between the ages of nineteen and twenty five and who have reached their Sophomore year in college, may, at their convenience, apply either in the state in which they reside or in the state in which they attend college. A personal interview with a Committee of Selection is necessary, but no examination is required. Since there are but thirty-two appointments annually, each state holds an election two years out of three. Anyone who is interested may obtain further information from their college or from the American Secretary to the Rhodes Trustees, Frank Aydelotte, President of Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERBILT

"'I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded,' was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an OLD GOLD. I hope I shall be able to buy them in Paris . . . they are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation and have a delightful aroma which to me is very important."

Gloria W Vanderbilt

How Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke . . . To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette . . . Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately replied: "Number 3"...which was OLD GOLD.

RUGH LECTURES ON PROBLEMS OF CHINA

by the latter had so stimulated student sentiment that at least three hundred were in attendance to hear the evening discussion.

China, according to Mr. Rugh, is passing through a renaissance as important as that in Europe during the Middle Ages. She is struggling to free herself from the bonds of internal and foreign tyranny. When a people have to support projects from which they derive no benefit, there is something very unfair about the government. That condition exists in China today, where, for instance in Shanghai, 83 per cent of the resident Chinese are taxed to pay for a golf course they are not allowed to use. Similar instances might be sighted which have made European rule intolerable to the Chinese.

Russia has a large influence in China because of her voluntary return of all extra-territorial rights. The Reds have trained the Nationalist army, but, with the split which occurred a short time ago, that influence has become small. The Chinese have always looked upon America as their friend, but this attitude will surely change, said Mr. Rugh, if we continue our warlike demonstrations and send over more gunboats. Chinese confidence in America will later result in millions of dollars in trade.

BLUE NINE TAKES ONE OUT OF THREE

passed balls, Willis, Shannahan; umpires—McGinnis and Burbank; time of game—2:05.

The games scheduled with Rhode Island State and Springfield College for last Friday and Saturday had to be cancelled because of rain. The game with Springfield, Saturday, was not cancelled until about half an hour before game time when it started to rain hard.

Games This Week.

The baseball team is all set for two home games this week and two more state championship games away from home next week. With a change in the batting order expected to bring better hitting in the pinches, the Blue warriors are ready to take some games into camp.

Thursday, the Red and White nine from Springfield College will be met in what promises to be a hard and closely fought battle. The Springfielders have a good hitting team and expect to make it warm for our boys. The Panther has sharpened up its claws however and is expected to be returned a winner by a close score.

The boys from the "cow college" play here Friday. Mass. Aggies have not the team this year that is usually found at that institution, but will fight hard to beat Middlebury. The Blue team should win this game also.

Next Monday the Panther will invade the lair of the Catamount and attempt to get revenge for the beating here by winning from the Vermonters on their own diamond. Vermont was lucky to win here and will have the fight of her life on her hands Monday.

Norwich will be met as usual at Northfield on Memorial Day. It will be remembered that the "Horsemen" managed to scrape by on the long end of a 3 to 1 count when they played down there. The results are expected to be different at the close of the coming game as the team is out for revenge. Dick Humeston will carry his trusty warclub with him in order to get a lead over Coane in the matter of hitting homers. With Willis in the home run club now, much excitement is looked for.

Middlebury in Europe.

Middlebury College will be represented in Europe by several undergraduates this year. C. A. Webber, Carlton Simmons and John Owen will take a trip through France, Adelma Hadley and Storrs Lee will tour France and Italy.

P.A. wins on every count

ANY way you figure it, P.A. is better tobacco. Take fragrance, for instance. Your well-known olfactory organ will tell you. And taste—who can describe that? And mildness—you couldn't ask for anything milder.

Yes, Sir, P.A. is cool and comfortable and mellow and mild. Long-burning, with a good clean ash. You never tire of P.A. It's always the same old friendly smoke. Get yourself a tidy red tin and check everything I'm telling you!

EIGHT TO COMPETE FOR PARKER PRIZE

Eight men from the freshman class have been selected to compete at the Parker Prize Speaking Contest which will be held at Mead Memorial Chapel Tuesday, May 29, at eight o'clock. The final participants include R. Amerman, C. Brink, G. Goslin, R. Davenport, H. Hazen, M. Miller, L. Robinson, and A. Utton.

The Parker Prizes were established by gifts of Daniel Parker in 1807, and Professor Frederick Hall in 1820, and represent one of the highest honors a freshman can win. Those chosen to compete will be given extremely valuable training by the English department in the art of speaking and argument. The contest this year is under the direction of Professor W. N. Morse and Mr. Sam Pattee. In addition to the training received, the four best speakers will be awarded prizes of $50, $35, $25, and $20 respectively.

The subjects upon which the men will speak are as follows: "The Myth of Militarism," "The Psychology of Bolshevism," "Proving Our Worth," "Molds of Christianity," "War," "The Christ and the Buddha," "As a Civilization—Where are We Today," and "The Curved Mirror."

Word has been received of the marriage of Esther F. Montgomery, of the class of 1926 to Carl B. Strong, ex-'26, on August 16, 1927, at Williamstown, Mass. They are now living at 1080 Abbott Blvd., Palisade, N. J.

Good. That's what it is . . .

No use trying to put a definition around Camel. It is as diverse and fugitive as the delicate tastes and fragrances that Nature puts in her choicest tobaccos, of which Camel is rolled. Science aids Nature to be sure by blending the tobaccos for subtle smoothness and mildness. One way to describe Camels is just to say, "They are good!"

Somehow, news of Camel has got around. Each smoker telling the other, we suppose. At any rate, it's first—in popularity as well as quality. It has beaten every record ever made by a smoke. Modern smokers have lifted it to a new world leadership.

Camels request a place in your appreciation. Try them upon every test known. You'll find them always loyal to your highest standard.

"Have a Camel!"
